Land Reform Sought, Speaker Says Here

Land reform.

This was advanced as a solution to the migratory worker problem recently in Austin at a conference on the migratory worker, a Bailey County farm wife told members of the Canyon Conservative Club Tuesday night.

The speaker was Mrs. Morris McKillip of Muleshoe.

She said the conference was sponsored by the Texas Committee on Migrant Farm Workers, a private organization, and the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, a state agency.

Mrs. McKillip was accompanied to the conference by Mrs. Jack Schuster and Mrs. L. V. Kolar, also of Muleshoe. They attended as observers for Bailey County Farm Bureau. Each of the three attended separate conference sessions.

"In my own group, I learned enough about the conference's plans for the Texas farmer to scare me into making this talk tonight," Mrs. McKillip declared. "I believe that all of you need to know the type of people who are making plans to control your future."

Among the groups represented were the GI Forum, Texas Council of Churches, Bishop's Committee for the Spanish-speaking, Texas Employment Commission, Texas Department of Welfare, Migratory, AFL-CIO, Mrs. McKillip said.

"In my discussion group, we discussed prejudice and exploiting of the migrant only briefly," said Mrs. McKillip. "Our group was obsessed with setting up some type of land reform as an excuse to help the migrant worker."

She said one man suggested that one way to set up land reform would be to give each worker that a farmer or rancher hires title to one acre of land.

"I asked what would he propose that the farmer do if the worker were to leave or if the farmer needed to hire another worker," Mrs. McKillip reported. "He said give the

Marjorie's Dog Is Lost

Marjorie Ann Miller, who's 11, has lost her dog.

To her, "Cindy" is more than a favorite pet.

Marjorie Ann suffers from asthma, and she's found that the toy Chihuahua -- in some mysterious fashion -- relieves her ailment.

Just why, she doesn't know. The oil the pet exudes, perhaps.

The dog wandered away from her home 10 days ago. A couple of boys tried to catch her, but were unsuccessful.

Her father, Leroy Miller, believes "Cindy" might be in the vicinity of the Canyon City Club.

May 1 -- the day the dog left -- wasn't a happy one for Marjorie Ann.

That same day, she was riding her brother's horse when she was told it had been sold.

She had to unsaddle, and let the new owner take him away.

GOPs Won't Need A Second Primary

By WILLIAM PEART

Only one Randall County office and another in the district will be contested in the June 2 Democratic runoff election.

A runoff will not be necessary by county Republicans, who nominated their slate in their first primary election in many years.

Mrs. Ruth Hill, the incumbent county treasurer who garnered 2,419 votes, will face Claude Money, who received 1,508, in the second primary.

A third candidate, Jewell C. Hammons, gained 1,076 votes in Saturday's election.

Ted B. Springer, the incumbent, will oppose J. M. "Red" Simpson for state representative in the 94th Flotorial District.

Springer received 2,386 ballots against 2,116 for Simpson and 502 for Marshall Sherwood, the other candidate for the post.

Only two posts were contested by the Republicans.

John Halley gathered 1,039 votes against Sherman Stockton's 624 for county judge.

Three GOPs sought the post of county commissioner of precinct 4.

Bill Butler took the lead with 566, Warner Wilson was third with 427 and George W. "Woody" Howell ran last with 96.

Truett G. Hull, Jr., polled 2,570 votes to defeat his lone opponent, George Dowlen, who received 1,925, for the Democratic nomination for county criminal district attorney.

A. W. Lair did not seek re-election.

County Commissioner Clarence Beckman of Precinct 2 edged his opposition, Jozach Byrd, 267-223, in the democratic race.

C. Y. Johnson, commissioner of Precinct 4, whipped hopeful Hugh Porterfield, 1,162-746, in the Democratic primary.

J. Evetts Haley, Jr., of Canyon, making his first bid for state office, received some 460,000 Democratic votes against incumbent John White's 685,000.

Animal Law Is Praised

City officials expressed extreme satisfaction yesterday with the newly-enacted animal control ordinance.

"We are well pleased with the way everything is working out," City Manager Bill A. York said. "All citizens have cooperated almost 100 per cent. We have had only one or two minor complaints."

York said 418 dog licenses were sold last month, when the law became effective.

The animal warden handled 85 animals, he said, and 25 of them were redeemed from the shelter.

Senior Class Services Set For May 17

Topping awards will be the "Outstanding Senior Man" and "Outstanding Senior Woman" plaques, given by Zeta Tau Alpha, national social sorority, and Sigma Nu, national social fraternity.

Caps, gowns, and hoods will be available to candidates Wednesday at the college bookstore.

A convocation rehearsal has been scheduled at 10 a.m. May 19 in the Field House, according to Dean Walter H. Juniper.

Haley Gains Moral Win In Campaign

Even in defeat, Evetts Haley, Jr., was reckoned morally victorious by some political observers as he polled almost a half million votes in his race for Texas Commissioner of Agriculture.

Haley received 451,617 votes while incumbent John White polled 685,902.

Running a poorboy campaign, Haley carried almost every county in the state where he was able to make public appearances and conduct extensive campaigning.

The 30-year-old Canyon rancher carried his home county by a margin of more than 500 votes. He received 2,682 votes while the incumbent polled only 2,164 in Randall County.

Haley ran without any sort of campaign organization and on meager funds. Most of his statewide campaigning was done by himself, his charming red-haired wife, Frances, and J. D. Singleton of Canyon.

Haley rolled up leads in 23 counties of the 18th Congressional District -- his home ground. He carried Dallas County and ran well in Harris County.

Single plank in Haley's platform was, "A vote for Haley is a vote of non-confidence in the federal farm program."

Loyalty Day Is Planned

Construction of a $40,000 addition to the Education Building at the First Methodist Church is expected to begin in the next few weeks.

The expansion program will add 3,600 square feet of floor space to the building. Plans call for two offices and six classrooms.

"Loyalty Sunday" is scheduled Sunday, "a day for expressing your loyalty to the program of our church by making your pledge to its work for the coming year," The Methodist Visitor reported.

Siren Alarm To Be Added

Canyon's first fire siren alarm--out of use for many years--is being reconditioned and will be placed in operation shortly.

City Manager Bill York said the equipment will be installed at the corners of 10th Ave. and 22nd St.

It will be the fourth alarm in the city. The others are located at 6th Ave. and 8th St., 6th Ave. and 23rd St. and on the water tower.

York also said the Randall County firetruck operated by the Canyon Fire Department Volunteers is undergoing a major overhaul.

"It will be "a number one piece of fire fighting equipment just as soon as the modernization work is completed," York said.

The volunteers answered three county alarms Monday.

Two of them were grass blazes and the other was a lot southwest of the city, where some junked cars and tires ignited.

Parties Set Conventions

The Randall County Democratic and Republican parties will hold their county conventions here Saturday.

The Democrats will meet in the auditorium at West Texas State College at 7:30 p.m.

The GOPs will gather in the district court room at the courthouse at the same time.

David Matthis, in answer to a question, said he couldn't determine at this time whether Saturday's voting indicated a trend towards conservatism.

"It's hard to say until the convention gets together," he said. "Liberalism versus conservatism is often confusing because the terms are often oversimplified -- there are so many shades of both."

Road Coat Work Told

Seal coat work is scheduled for 29.1 miles of Randall County highways.

It will be done on 15.9 miles of U. S. 87 and 14.2 miles of F. M. 297.

The work is part of a $246,362 project stretching 194 miles in nine area counties. The cost in Randall was not announced but based on those figures, it will be about $39,500.

Building Permits Issued By City

The City of Canyon has issued three recent building permits, two of them to the same person.

They are:

Walter Long, new construction, 2111 9th Ave., $6,590.

Walter Long, new construction, 1709 6th Ave., $6,590.

K.E. Frieze, new construction, 414 Taylor Lane, $20,000.

County Body Okays Bids On Supplies

The Randall County Commissioners spent $2,490.63 Monday--$1,756.63 for a new car for the Sheriff's Department and $734 for office furniture for the Courthouse Annex in North Randall County.

Five firms--Elliott Office Supply, Connell Stationery Co., Russell Stationery Co., General Office Supply, Inc., and Tom Jones & Sons, all of Amarillo--bid on the furniture.

The commissioners split the business between General, Elliott, Russell and Connell.

Bruce Blackaby Ford Co., Imperial Chevrolet and Canyon Motor Co., an Oldsmobile dealer, submitted bids.

The contract went to Canyon Motor for $1,756.63, including the trade-in on a 1958 Oldsmobile.

Imperial submitted two bids on different models--$1,702.60 and $1,767.83.

Blackaby's offers were $1,522 and $1,784, representing two different models.

Canyon Motor offered only one price.

In other action, the commissioners:

Approved a six-block plat for Lake Stockton.

Panel Slates Park Review

A proposed master plan for the development of Conner Park will be presented to the Canyon Park and Development Board tomorrow.

City Manager Bill York said the plan, devised by the Amarillo Park and Recreation Department, will be reviewed by the board at 3 p.m.

Engineers Say No Stop Light

An engineering report shows there is insufficient traffic at 23rd St. and 8th Ave. to warrant a blinking stop light.

City Manager Bill York had asked the State Highway Department to conduct the survey.

Hilltop Views

Graduating exercises are close at hand and this writer has participated in so many such occasions that, like the old fire horse, he is ready to run the moment he hears the bell ring.

Yet, it may be doubted whether many commencement sermons and addresses ever go further than the outer ear of those they are supposed to bless. By and large seniors are not in a meditative mood during commencement exercises, but probably are in the grip of a variety of emotions. At any rate that was true in each of my four "trips to the bat."

So what I'm saying today really is not meant so much for commencement, as for those quiet meditative moments before and after the formal exercises of graduation.

The truth is, I am using notes I made Oct. 13, 1939 and that have recently come back to my attention.

My first recording that day was a quotation: "If an individual is to become his own best self, he must constantly be in contact with the best that is in humanity."

That quotation evidently prompted me to record my own thoughts as follows:

After all, what is education if it is not the process whereby one comes to appreciate and habitually to appropriate the best that men in all ages have learned and thought and felt and said? One cannot rise in stature by pulling at one's own bootstraps. One grows by extending one's self after the ideas and ideals of the great who have blazed the trail. The great have themselves done this very thing. Indeed, they are called great because they have succeeded in unusual measure in gathering up "the best that is in humanity" and conveying it in some impressive and attractive way to the rest of us. -- Moses, Socrates, Luther, Shakespeare, Milton and their kind in every field of human achievement embody, each in his own way, "the best that is in humanity."

Then, on that same October 13, 1939 there was recorded in the same note book the following:

Every man who has enough intelligence to set him apart from the beasts of the field has at sometime in life concerned himself with what lies beyond. He has asked himself, What is life? Whence does it come? What is it for? What is the plan, the purpose, the will behind human existence? Why suffering and sorrow and physical pain, and death? Why love and hope and aspiration and joy?

All of these questions relate themselves finally to the great First Cause -- God; or, if you have a better name let's have it. All of them have root in what has come to be called the spiritual nature of man -- that part of man which feels kinship with a Supreme Being -- that part of man which finds its sweetest satisfactions in the invisible world, where it is more blessed to give than to receive; where the physical is subordinated to the other and better self. The man who ignores these and other questions of their kind, whatever else may be said of him, is not educated.

Education may be defined as the process by which one comes into the habit of giving his best self a good chance. Books, libraries, and laboratories are but means to that end. The chief business of the educator is to lead and inspire youth to move ever toward higher and higher goals.

And on another page, this: Religion inheres in the human heart; that is -- man by nature is a worshiper.

Jesus is religion raised to the nth power.

The church is an institutional form through which religion works. It is not an end in itself, but a means to an end.

Finally, allow me to quote from Robert Louis Stevenson: "You cannot run away from a weakness; you must some time fight it out or perish; and if that be so why not now, and where you stand?"

Just Sort Of...

I read a piece the other day datelined "Rattlesnake Gulch, Oklahoma," which told about the goings-on at the once-a-year rattlesnake roundup in Okeene.

It got me to remembering back when I was newspapering in Oklahoma City, and the boss man sent me up into the Gypsum Hills in different years to hunt the critters with the other folks.

I went, because I needed the money -- not because, mind you, I was hankering to lasso a snake.

I did manager to loop one -- a one-footer, which, I was told, didn't have the teeth to bite through a piece of copy paper.

Nevertheless, he LOOKED more than just sort of mean.

The night before my first excursion, the people who sponsored the get-together loaded a banquet table with naturally -- rattlesnake meat.

I took a timid nibble, and then excused myself.

The highly - touted delicacy didn't agree with my unsophisticated taste buds.

I remember I worked at my job the first year.

I scrambled over the hills in search of snake loot. That was easy. My argument came when I figured it was time to come down. I finally comprised by doing a swan dive and then rolling down over stumps and brush -- and presumably, more snakes.

It was a heck of a way to come down a hill.

I had smarted up a bit when I went back the second time.

I sat in a car, and drank soda pop. I worked it around so that I judged a beauty contest.

I brought along a sackfull of non-rattlesnake meat sandwiches, and made a killing selling half-a-sandwich for two bits. Plus tip. That was another quarter.

I'd squeeze myself from the car every hour or so and walk around -- way around -- the pits the hunters dumped their catch into.

I mumbled a "too bad" when one hunter got nipped by the snake he had corralled.

I did even better the third year.

I stayed in Oklahoma City.

Clean... Paint... Fix...

Hereford's annual "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" campaign has been scheduled April 30 to May 7, and if it is anything like as successful as the 1961 campaign, its completion will establish the community as a better place to live.

Credit for success of the campaign in our opinion goes to the ladies, who have changed the annual drive from a token effort into a well organized movement. As someone recently put it, "The men may do the work, but it takes the wives to get them on the job."

From every standpoint, beginning with health and ranging to pride in appearance, the annual clean up campaign is certainly worth the effort involved. Regardless of individual effort, success of the campaign is measured in terms of participation, chiefly because one person can nullify the efforts of an entire block in case he leaves exposed garbage which attracts flies and mosquitoes.

At the same time, no single thing speaks a better recommendation for a community than yards, well kept homes and attractive plantings and Hereford, for many years, has been considered a leader in this direction.

The fact that Deaf Smith County is classified as one of the 10 higher per-capita-income areas in the Southwest is a bonafide reason for the community ranking high in the field of attractive homes and yards, but it took the ladies to bring out the best in us -- and we certainly owe them a word of appreciation.

Russian Goals The Same

Some of the political analysts today are encouraged by the fact that the Russian people are demanding more food, better housing and many of the luxuries which we have in America. They believe this pressure at home may force Khrushchev to give up on his efforts to Communize the world.

The analysts call attention to the fact that world revolution has not paid off for the Russians as they expected it to. They note: that the new nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America are not embracing Communism as an answer to their needs. They point to Western Europe as turning its back on Communism. They see in Red China, Yogoslavia, and Albania a reaction against Communist leadership from Russia. They speculate on Russia turning more and more toward isolationism.

We believe that this view that Russia is headed toward isolation represents wishful thinking. We recognize that Khrushchev faces a dilemma, that he must seek a balance in developing Russia's internal economy and in spreading Communism throughout the world. We see no reason however to expect Russia to give up its goal of world domination.

Our greatest danger in this country is that our officials in their desire to influence Soviet internal policy may make concessions that imply weakness. We must avoid high hills of hope or valleys of despair -- we must be prepared to meet the Russian probes with a resolute will, with strength, with unity.

From The CANYON RIM

There was a time in heyday of Rome that Roman generals returning from victory marched ahead of their legions while the populace paid homage.

The victorious general was dressed in the most splendid garments. His horses and chariot were the finest to be afforded by the mistress of the world. His legions glittered in his wake.

As the crowds roared their adulation a slave would strike the general a smarting blow on the cheek. This was to teach him that he was, after all, only a man and in need of humility.

Humility is one of the finest virtues of mankind. Without it true greatness can never be achieved. Thinking back, I remember some of the fine men with whom I have had the privileged to talk.

Ranking chief among them were men of great humility . . . Dr. Mayer of the Lutheran Hour; General Ira C. Eaker, deputy chief of the US Air Force; and others.

Saturday was our first experience as a publisher in a county seat town. We slipped up on three counts.

(1). We should have published detailed information on use of the voting machine.

(2). We should have published sample ballots.

(3). In cooperation with other businessmen, we should have hosted an election party. The possibilities of this is tremendous. We could have pulled thousands to town. They could have shopped on until about 11 o'clock and still have kept up with election returns via an election board.

Don't know if there will be enough races in the runoffs to provide interest for an election party, but in the next major election such a party will be forthcoming.

Several election officials have expressed growing satisfaction with the new voting machines. One election official said that although some folks were required to wait as long as an hour to vote, it was not really the fault of the machines.

People came to the polls not knowing for whom they would vote in many cases. It was their first time to use the machines and they took fright.

This particular official believes that if the machines are kept here long enough for people to become accustomed to them voting will go like clock work.

This particular official said he was able to vote in 38 seconds. He said results of his precinct's balloting was available within minutes after the polls closed.

On the other hand there was considerable criticism of the machines because of the long wait at some voting places. Some people became disgruntled with waiting and walked away without casting a ballot.

One voter from South Amarillo said several people there voted in the wrong primary by mistake. Democrats got into Republican booths and Republicans into Democrat booths.

next worker another acre of land."

"I asked him if he were aware that if this plan were put into effect that within a few generations we would be a nation of one-acre farms," Mrs. McKillip went on. " He said that was what this nation needs."

"He said that in Russia about two years ago the peasant was given one acre of land and that the peasants increased production 65 percent on that land. I said that if that were true, then when we gave our migrant worker an acre of land and he increased production 65 percent, then he would be in direct competition with his benefactor. The man said no, that it wouldn't work that way. He stated that in Germany it had been working well for 150 years. Someone asked him if he weren't recommending serfdom. He said no, not at all."

Mrs. McKillip said she was told of a terrible unemployment situation in South Texas during the first part of this year. She said she asked why the people of this area were at the same time unable to obtain 25,000 tractor drivers needed.

A member of the Texas Employment commission told her that farmers should have applied to TEC. She replied that such applications were made without success.

The TEC man retorted that the South Texas Mexicans did not know how to drive tractors.

She asked if any were being trained. A few, the TEC man was quoted as having replied. "They don't have to leave South Texas when they are trained," another man pointed out. "They can get jobs there."

The TEC man suggested that farmers of this area train their own tractor drivers. Mrs. McKillip said she told the group that this is exactly what area farmers are doing and that this is the reason farmers of the High Plains are depending upon bracero labor.

"The migrant simply is not available," she said.

Mrs. McKillip said that every person in her conference group except herself either was actively for land reform or did not oppose it in any way.

"When I stated that I was wholeheartedly for our free enterprise system, our right to keep what we have worked for an saved, everyone in that room disagreed with me," she reported.

"They said that the people who have wealth should share with those who do not. That we should share even with those who have done absolutely nothing for the wealth which would be divided and given to them. They all felt that the federal government is the agency that should be used to divide our property. They not only recommended division of land, they recommended division of property. I thought that I would never sit in on a discussion group in the United States of America and hear a group actively condemn our type of free enterprise economy. I thought that happened only in Russia, Cuba, or China. I felt dazed, as though I were in a bad dream."

Mrs. McKillip said that following discussions by small groups, the participants returned to the House of Representatives to hear a summary report.

"I can recall only one of the recommendations in the summary report," she declared. Our reporter said, 'We recommend land reform to aid the migrant worker.' I was stunned." The speaker said land reform also is being advocated by Agricultural Secretary Orville Freeman.

Mrs. McKillip said her two companions met with sympathetic hearings in the sessions they attended.

Canyon Conservative Club will meet the second Tuesday night of each month in the commissioners' court room at the county court house.

Farmstead Windbreaks Are On The Increase

By DOUGLAS CUNNINGHAM
Range Conservationist, Area One and Two.

The use of farmstead windbreaks has increased during the past 15 years.

Trees or shrubs have been planted on most farmsteads as barriers against the wind, to beautify the home, or to provide shade. Some windbreaks are planted in feedlots to protect livestock.

Most new plantings include evergreens and low shrubs, which more effectively hold wind.

Research has shown the value of windbreaks. The Lakes State Forest Experiment Station conducted experiments in Nebraska and Kansas. Exact fuel requirements were recorded in itentical test houses.

One house was protected from the north winds only. The other was exposed to the full sweep of the wind. A constant house temperature of 70 degrees F. was maintained in both houses.

The experiment showed that the amount of fuel used in the house protected from north winds was 20.2 percent less than that used in the unprotected house.

Research done in states adjoining the Texas Panhandle found that cattle wintered out doors during a mild winter in natural brush and tree shelters gained 34.9 pounds more per head than those kept in a shed lot. Both groups were fed identical rations.

In Nebraska and South Dakota, 86 cattle feeders figured that a windbreak saved each of them $800.00 annually.

A well located windbreak protects buildings and livestock from north and west winds. Such evergreens as Red Cedar, or Chinese Arborvitae and such shrubs as Tamarisk, Russian-olive or Desert willow should be grown in the windbreaks with Chinese elms or other deciduous trees.

If you are thinking of putting in a windbreak of any kind, contact your local Soil Conservation Service office. They can help you determine what species of trees to use, how to plant them, and where.

Haley's Randall County total was 2,682 against White's 2,164.

Other county candidates in both parties were nominated without opposition.

The party also re-nominated T. H. "Tommy" Lair for county clerk. A. L. "Lee" Biggs polled 1,890 ballots.

Grady Hazlewood counted 3,556 votes in Randall County--and 23,658 in the 31st senatorial district -- to be re-nominated by the Democrats for state senator.

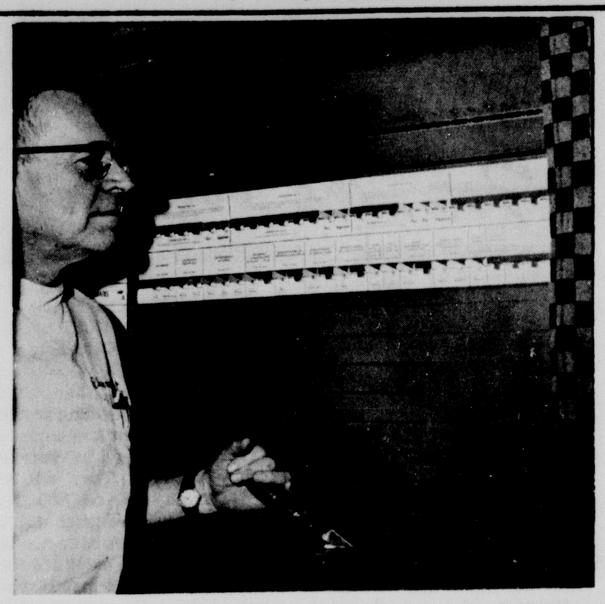

Running against him was Charles Ballman, who received 1,383 in the county and 14,660 in the district.

John Connally will face Don Yarborough in the Democratic runoff for governor but county voters favored Marshall Formby of Plainview. He received 1,737 votes to Conally's 1,113 and Yarborough's 746.

Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo led Jack Cox of Breckenridge in GOP gubernatorial race, 968-823, although Cox won the party's nomination on a state basis.

State voters also voted in favor of outlawing the poll tax and against pari-mutuel betting.

A precinct - by - precinct tabulation on county and district races is published in the inside pages of this issue of The Canyon News.

The old and the new were in use in Randall County for the first time Saturday when voters cast their ballots in the state-wide Republican and Democratic primaries. R.A. Smith, left, used a voting machine at a GOP precinct while Dean Foster, marked his ballot with a pencil at a Democratic precinct. Smith is a Canyon pharmacist and Foster a farmer near Ralph Switch. --Staff Photos

Lions Hear 'Goings On'

The speakers were Bill York, city manager; Buddy Hoskins, park ranger; and Dave Lipscomb, speech therapist at West Texas State College.

York said paving 35 blocks of city streets should be completed in July.

He spoke briefly of the city's new policy toward dogs. And also said the city will have one of the water towers cleaned and painted.

York reported improvements are being made on fire department equipment and plans call for improving and doubling the capacity of the city sewage plant soon if money is available.

Hoskins said 21,454 people have visited Palo Duro State Park since March 1. He reported that $15,000 in rest room facilities will be installed near the site of the Symphonic Drama amphitheater.

Lipscomb said new improvements supplied through a $6,000 grant from the Killgore Foundation has made the speech therapy department at WT one of the best in the state.

He said the new equipment permits diagnosing brain tumors in early stages.

"Early enough that something can be done about it," he said.

He believes the new equipment ultimately may result in the saving of thousands of lives.

"Because students are being trained here and will go out into the area," Lipscomb added, "I would say that this may save as many as 10,000 lives in the next 10 years."

The entrance fee is $3.00 for each player.

Reviewer Praises Baritone's Recital Here

The baritone sang, but the rains did not come.

Theodor Uppman ended the season here Monday evening for Canyon Community Concert Association. He sang to the "second smallest audience" of his concert career, since many would-be-listeners were kept away by threatening clouds at concert time.

He genially boasted, however, during the reception in his honor following the program, that he usually "brought rain" as he came to West Texas.

"I have sung in many Texas cities," Uppman offered. "Once I was accompanied to Amarillo by a deluge of rain; and the last time I came through Canyon, I was chased by a tornado."

Uppman impressed his admirers even further with his casual approach, both onstage and off. He, like preceding celebrated artists who have performed in Canyon High School auditorium, complimented the facilities there. He also praised the responsiveness of the "small but warm" audience.

Following is a review of the singer's recital, written by Mrs. H.R. Fulton Jr., an outstanding Canyon vocalist, graduate of the WTSC music department, and presently, instructor in voice at WT.

BY MRS. H.R. FULTON, JR.

Theodor Uppman's rich baritone voice was well worth waiting an extra six weeks to hear. Mr. Uppman showed no signs of the illness which forced him to postpone the concert originally scheduled for March 26.

Monday evening an enthusiastic Community Concert audience heard this versatile young artist sing a varied program especially suitable to the baritone, from the big, dramatic "Eri Tu" from "The Masked Ball" by Verdi to "It Ain't Necessarily So" from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess".

Mr. Uppman made his audience more receptive at the beginning of his program by speaking to them in a warm, friendly manner. He introduced his accompanist, Mr. Paul Velucci, instructor of piano at SMU, who joined him here especially for this postponed performance.

Mr. Velucci proved to be more than adequate in his accompaniments, and the two made a team which seemed to have been performing together for years instead of hours.

A full, mellow tone quality was displayed in all the songs which Uppman sang, whether it was one of the slow, sustained songs such as "Breathe Soft, Ye Winds" by Handel or one of the florid ones, "O'er the Hills Far Away" by Hopkinson.

And the beauty of his voice was not the only attribute worthy of praise. He sings with a warmth of feeling and a spontaneity of expression, and his appearance leaves little to be desired. His very pleasant personality comes across to the listener and enhances the performance.

The program included a group of German songs by Schubert and Hugo Wolf. These songs are especially beautiful when sung by a baritone and the "To the Lyre" by Schubert was one of the finest.

The group of French songs was equally well-done, showing the fine tone color of his voice. "Lydia" by Faure and "la Belle Jeunesse" (Beautiful Youth) a gay, quick-moving song were outstanding in this group.

"The Albatross" was a beautiful addition to the English group. After the group of English songs, Uppman treated the audience to two encores and in the last, a cowboy song by David Guion, "All Day on the Prairie," he proved that whistling can be an asset to a singer. This number was particularly charming to its Texas audience.

Uppman left Canyon immediately for Dallas where he is to appear with the Met in a number of new roles--first appearances in Cosi fan tutte and Girl of the Golden West, the roles of Marcello in La Boheme and Sharpless in Madame Butterfly. He interrupted the Met tour in Atlanta, Ga., especially to fulfill this belated engagement in Canyon.

The summer will find Uppman in Santa Fe where he joins that opera company to sing Carmen and News of the Day.

He was selected from a list of students submitted to the Palo Duro Post 97, the local sponsor of the conclave.

The Canyon Rotary and Lions clubs will also participate in sending Price, a junior, to Austin.

An American Legion brochure points out "the objective of Boys State is to 'educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship.'"

Price, an assistant professor of men's physical education at West Texas State College, is a member of the Canyon post.

ACS Meeting Hears Talk

A research scientist from Chicago presented some startling population figures to the Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society last week.

Dr. John R. Van Wazer told the group that 90 per cent of all scientists from the beginning of the world's population count are still living.

Additionally, he said, 21 per cent of the people who were born are alive today.

Dr. Van Wazer said the large number of technical papers being written present the problem of getting them to the proper groups.

The banquet meeting also honored Dr. Charles A. Pierle, who was presented a blaque honoring him as the "Man most responsible for starting the Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society."

He is a retired professor of chemistry at West Texas State College, where the meeting was held.

North Randall News

Master Scott Wilson is a very lucky young man of 6 years. Last Thursday, he and his brother, Ross, and sister, Cindy and two cousins, Tim and Greg were playing near their home, when Scott playfully stuck his head in a milk can, which was burried in the ground over a water cut-off. It took several neighbors and a lot of digging to extricate Scott, but he is fine now, except for a rather large lump on his forehead. Needless to say, some very anxious minutes were spent by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilson.

A chapter of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, has been installed at West Texas State College.

Ten charter members were selected from the advanced cadets of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit.

Membership in the group is based on scholarship, leadership, and extracurricular participation in campus activities, according to Capt. William Edwards, sponsor of the new group.

Purpose of the society, he said, is to further military activities and to participate as a service organization in campus activities.

Four senior cadets, all Distinguished Military Student became charter members. They are Vern Vincent of Amarillo, commander of the WT Cadet Corps; Alan Hanks of Canyon; Jerry Bell of Vernon, and Ronald Weaver of Amarillo.

Chenault is company captain for the WT chapter, designated D Company of the 15th Regiment of Scabbard and Blade.

HELP TEENAGERS BECOME MORE GROWN-UP

A phone "for their very own," in their room, gives them a sense of privacy and responsibility. Allows more freedom to express themselves and their ideas. Helps them with school, church and club activities. But mostly, it gives them the fun of talking with their special friends. Costs so little most youngsters could pay for it with their own money!

Who needs extension phone service most?

Families that make or receive five or more calls a day.

Families with one or more members active in school, church, civic or club work.

Families with active, popular teenagers or young adults.

If any of these conditions fit your family, the chances are you need extension phone service.

To order your personal extension phones—Princess, wall or table models, in a wide range of colors—call the telephone business office, or ask any telephone service man.

Vacation Time is Pool Time

One of the fastest growing phases of outdoor living is represented by the private swimming pool. Last year, some 50,000 backyard swimming pools were constructed, and industry sources estimate that this figure will continue to zoom.

Less than a decade ago, owning a swimming pool was associated with substantial wealth. Today mass production methods have brought costs down to a point where they are within financial reach of the average family.

Pools can be built to fit within any reasonable area at prices to fit almost any budget. Few if any, investments in family recreational facilities will pay such generous and lasting dividends in healthy fun for young and old, alike.

Among the more popular types of pool construction are waterproof poured concrete, sprayed concrete or concrete blocks, steel, aluminum, plastic molds or shells and other variations.

PORTABLE POOLS

If you rent your home, or can't afford an excavated pool, a reasonable compromise, at much lower cost, are the above-ground pools, made of vinyl-impregnated nylon, and held rigid by easily set-up, sturdy walls.

THANKS to the voters of the 31st Senatorial District

No man ever had better friends and supporters than I. I hope my service will justify your faith and confidence

Tennis Team Ends Season

The women's tennis team at West Texas State College has closed its 1962 season, posting a record showing only one loss.

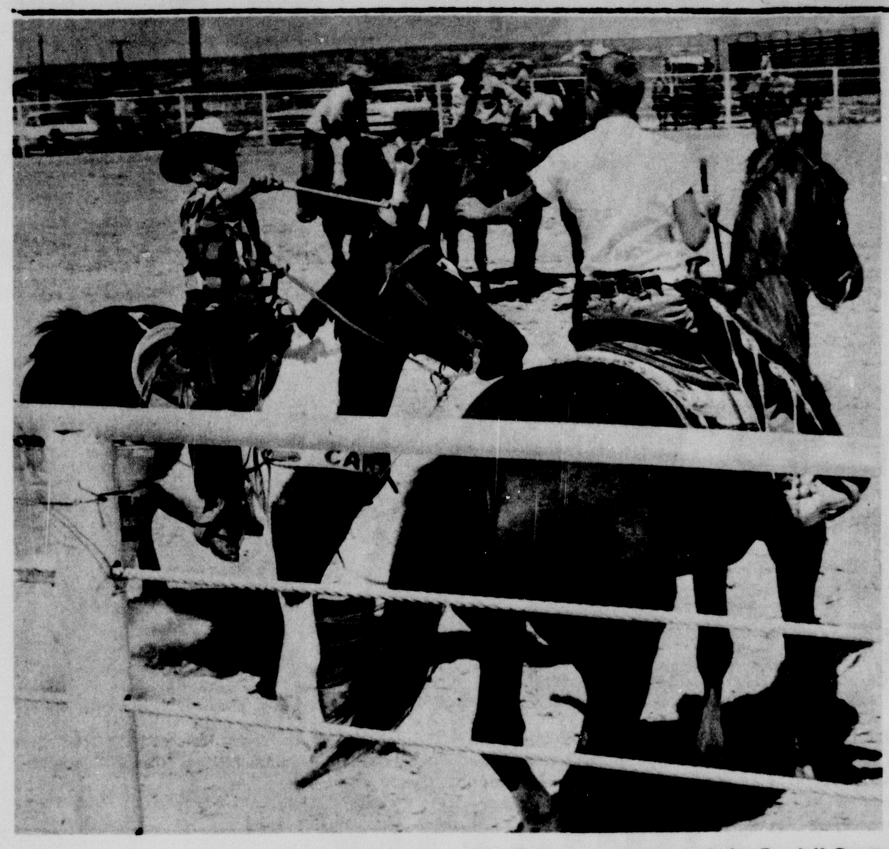

Two squad members -- Linda Robinson and Sharon Campbell -- will return for action next year.

Minta McAninch, a senior from Merkel, ended her WT career by winning consolation at the University of Texas Open.

She downed girls from Odessa College, Sam Houston State College, Southwest Texas College and the University of Texas before losing to players from Lamar Tech and Odessa.

She is the only WT tennis player to letter four years.

Miss McAninch has been active in campus affairs and is a member of Buffalo Gals, Alpha Chi, P. E. Majors Club, and Kappa Delta Pi, which she heads.

Another Top Basketball Player Is Signed By WT

All-State basketball player Gail Simpson of Borger High School has signed an athletic contract to attend West Texas State College on scholarship.

Head coach Metz LaFollette said the 6-foot guard, sought after by many of the Southwest's leading colleges, averaged 16 points a game for Coach Tex Hanna's Bulldogs.

He was a first team choice for All-District and All-State.

He's the brother of Allen Simpson, former All-Border Conference performer at West Texas State and currently head basketball coach at Canyon High School.

Simpson is the third All-State player signed by West Texas.

Others are Joe McWilliams, All-State guard from Dunbar of Lubbock, and Dave Benefield, All-Stater from Phillips High School who is returning from four years navy duty.

Transfer players who'll be at WT next year are Ray DeBord, an All-American at Clarendon Jr. College, and Tom Bruenick, who comes from Northeast College in Sterling, Colo.

DeBord, from Sunray, made 63 per cent of his shots from the floor and 87 per cent from the free throw line.

McWilliams was named the outstanding player in the state meet. His team won the district 4-AAAA Negro title.

WTSC Golfers 5th At Meet

West Texas State College placed fifth in a field of 13 last weekend at the fifth annual Abilene Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The meet completed the season for the WT team, coached by Huelyn Laycock.

Danny Neese carded an even 286 par in Abilene, Kenneth Barnett shot 286, Jimmy Holmes scored 291 and John Sligh counted 307.

During the year, WT won eight matches, lost three and tied 2.

West Texas State College will go against North Texas State University when the Eagles open their home basketball season in Denton Dec. 1.

Eagle's Tale, CHS Paper, Is Published By Students

By VIRGINIA CROUNSE
Editor, Eagles Tale

A last minute flurry of activity, a last hurried check of the dummy, and the Canyon High School Eagle's Tale is sent to the printer, its departure hailed with signs of relief by the 12 members of the paper staff.

But the staff has only a short break, for work must begin immediately on next month's issue of the paper. The principal's calendar must be checked for coming activities and the various stories assigned.

Special duties are given to each staff member, but everyone serves as copyreader and everyone cuts, pastes and does make-up.

Copyreading is checking stories in order to prevent mistakes and to rearrange improperly constructed sentences, such as "The boy mopped the floor with his sister."

Headlines must also be made for each story and sent with other copy to The Canyon News where the copy is set in strips the width of the paper's columns. Headlines are set on narrower strips.

While the copy is being set, the staff is busy doing make-up, which is the process of planning the arrangement of stories on a page.

Then comes a very important, and often humorous phase in the paper's preparation, the pasting of the dummy pages. The stories and headlines are cut and pasted in their pre-planned positions on large sheets of ruled paper known as the dummy.

Occasionally, a mistake is made in this process. In the October issue, for instance, a very important head was first pasted so that it read "United Defeat Beats Spirit," rather that "United Spirit Beats Defeat," which was the correct order.

After the dummy is pasted, corrected and checked, it is sent to Southwest Offset, Incorporated, in Hereford for publishing.

One of the most anxious times of the entire month comes at this point when the staff waits eagerly to see whether the bus bringing the papers from Hereford will arrive in time to distribute the paper on the date indicated on the paper itself.

Ronald Davis is photographer, and Bob Haggard and Davis Price are writing sports news for the second year.

Members of Mrs. Royal Brantley's Art II and III Class draw the VIP pictures, the editorial illustrations and some column heads, and Bob Haggard has a cartoon feature

At those times of the month when work on the "Eagle's Tale" is not so pressing, journalism students study in more detail various phases of newspapers and newspaper work.

Thus, with the aid of both books and practical experience, Canyon High School's journalism class is helping to train young people of today to be better citizens of tomorrow.

Mrs. Harper Tells About West Drama

By MRS. PLES HARPER
President, Panhandle Heritage Foundation

Pete Cowart, concessionaire of the Palo Duro State Park, where he has been located for the past eight years, was a featured speaker at the convention of the U. S. Highway 60 National Association held last week in Banning, California, a town of about 6,000 people.

Mr. Cowart was asked to speak because of his long association with the park and because of his connection with the Symphonic Drama Project which is developing in the Texas Panhandle.

He spoke on: "The Care and Treatment of Tourists and the Coming Symphonic Drama in the Palo Duro Canyon." He discussed the hundreds of small things a host can do which make the difference between a pleasant tourist experience and an indifferent one.

The convention voted to adapt Mr. Cowart's suggestion that a 35 mm slide strip or film be developed to show tour directors of the oil companies and of the AAA the attractions along Highway 60.

Another featured speaker on the program was Carol Lane, Shell Oil tour director of California and Los Angeles.

The convention was held in a very small town in california, 20 miles from the home of "Ramona," one of the earliest dramas of them all. Although called a pageant, it was different from other pageants which have long since died, in that it had a plot, and characters so real that the audiences became deeply interested in them.

These features made it a symphonic drama, and were largely responsible for the fascination which has kept it running most years since its opening in 1923. A performance of "Ramona" for the convention was one of the principal reasons for the location of the meeting in Banning.

Although "Ramona" is only presented six times a season, it has attracted more than 30,000 people a year in the last few years. The opening night was last Saturday and the conference was scheduled so that the delegates could see the performance.

Another performance was held Sunday and performances are scheduled Saturday, Sunday and May 12 and 13.

"Ramona" is based on the play by Helen Hunt Jackson and the script was written by Garnet Holme, who was known as "the wizard of California pageantry" in the first quarter of the century.

Although he wrote more than 100 pageants and regional plays, he made the statement in 1927 that he believed that "Ramona" would last indefinitely because of its romantic appeal and the enthusiasm of the twin cities in producing it.

These twin cities are Hemet, California (pop. 6,000) and San Jacinto, California (pop. 2,800) and a trade area of about 40,000 people. For six nights, "Ramona" requires about $45,000 to produce.

In addition to Ramona and Allessandro, the leading figures in the story, there are choruses of Indians who appear high on the rocks above the audience, Spanish children, sheepshearers, Indian maidens, Spanish women, Indian women, Spanish men, Indian men, Spanish dancers, Indian dancers, troubadours, Spanish maidens and a cast of twenty-three characters.

Total receipts in 1961 were $71,857.91.

Mr. Cowart was particularly interested in the Ramona Bowl, one of the countries earliest outdoor amphitheaters. It can seat 6000 people. Mr. Cowart has acted as consultant in the development of the plans for the amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon. He has been very valuable because of his experience in supervising the workers on the magnificent Red Rocks theater near Denver.

"Modern?" That's like when you've got Gas Air Conditioning!

"Modern" is a real hard word to explain. Like, fr' instance, if you were talking about the "newest" in Summer comfort — the Sun Valley Gas air conditioner. It's the "most" in Summer comfort, because the air is the "coolest," and "cleanest" and stays that way when it's "hottest" outside. You might say it's the "economical'est," too, because it uses low-cost, dependable GAS. And no moving parts in the heating or cooling cycles make it the "maintenance free'est" of any unit on the market.
So I guess you'd say "modern" ends everything with an "est," like the Sun Valley does.
